

WAM 2009
Zermatt Resort and Spa
Midway, Utah

DOCTORAL / JUNIOR FACULTY CONSORTIUM

The WAM 2009 Doctoral / Junior Faculty Consortium is a two-day experience (March 18 and 19) offering networking, insights, skills, and tools for professional development in an atmosphere of collegial support. The Consortium is designed to address concerns and questions associated with early faculty life (teaching, research, service, consulting, and academic transitions), as well as offer an excellent networking opportunity for participants.

2009 Participants include:

Thomas Cummings, University of Southern California
Ellen Ensher, Loyola Marymount University
Teppo Felin, Brigham Young University
Kevin Groves, Pepperdine University
Amy Hurley-Hanson, Chapman University

Joyce Osland, San Jose State University
Jone Pearce, University of California, Irvine
Mooweon Rhee, University of Hawaii
Jeffrey Shay, University of Montana
Bill Starbuck, NYU and University of Oregon
David Whetten, Brigham Young University

The consortium kicks off the 2009 WAM Conference, March 18-21

MANAGING SMART: MORE INNOVATION, MOVING FORWARD
Innovation is critical in today's challenging markets. We will be learning of and reporting on the latest research addressing innovation and organizational learning, creativity, entrepreneurship, negotiation, governance, networks, and alliances.

Registration: <http://www.wamonline.org>
(If the registration site isn't available on the web, please send an email to Bambi Douma at the address below.)

Reduced registration fees and partial subsidies are available.

For More Information, email Bambi Douma or David Hannah, Consortium Organizers, at bambi.douma@business.umt.edu or drhannah@sfu.ca

